New interior flooring from Addagrip

Addagrip has just launched DECO, a high quality resin-based surface to complement its existing range of decorative interior floor finishes.

Addagrip DECO is the result of continued development and research with Norwegian manufacturers to produce a 2-3mm coloured quartz surface which provides an attractive, seamless and hardwearing finish.

Already used extensively in Scandinavia, DECO provides an ideal floor finish for a variety of applications including shops, supermarkets, offices and schools, with recent projects including a supermarket chain in Iceland. DECO uses a mix of coloured quartz so offers much scope in terms of design and colour.

Addagrip DECO is quick to install, and because it produces a smooth, seamless finish, it is easy to clean and maintain. Its robust, hardwearing finish requires little maintenance and so is a cost effective flooring solution.

DECO joins Addagrip's existing range of interior flooring which includes resin flooring and Addatex Stone carpet, a mix of aggregates bound in epoxy resin to give attractive and versatile flooring with the comfort and warmth of traditional carpet.
